READ THIS FIRST

These instructions are for qualified technical personnel only. Before you start any work:

- Read this manual carefully.
- Make sure that you understand this manual.
- Follow all instructions in this manual.

1 MAXON EULA

End User License Agreement

This End User License Agreement ("EULA") is entered into between maxon motor ag, Brünigstrasse 220, CH-6072 Sachseln ("maxon entity") and customer that accepted this agreement either by manual or electronic signature, or by any type of electronic declaration of intent, such as by clicking a download button or similar. Acceptance of this agreement or using the software indicates that customer has read, understood and accepted these terms. If customer does not accept this EULA, customer must refrain from using the software.

1.1 Definitions

«Affiliates» means all companies directly or indirectly owned or controlled by maxon entity's ultimate parent company, including maxon entity's ultimate parent company.

«Documentation» means any documentation provided by maxon entity in connection with the software (print, PDF or integrated in the software) including – where applicable – API-documentation.

«Eligible Products» means maxon product or service which are eligible to be used in connection with the software. Eligible products are listed in the Documentation or in connection with the download of software or are otherwise communicated to the customer (e.g. during the installation process).

«maxon Products and Services» means any product or service provided by maxon entity or its Affiliates.

«Software» means software including any modification made available by maxon entity or its Affiliates to customer as well as – where applicable – APIs associated with the software.

1.2 Software license

maxon entity grants customer a non-exclusive, non-transferable, limited license to install and use the Software in executable form and use related Documentation for customer's internal business purposes for the period of usage of Eligible Products by customer.

During the term of this EULA, maxon entity may, from time to time and in its sole discretion, make available to customer updates, upgrades, patches, fixes or new releases of or to the Software which can be downloaded and installed by the customer. All such modification of the Software and every supplementary program code provided to customer shall be subject to the terms and restrictions set forth in this EULA.

Software may contain free and open-source software ("FOSS"). FOSS may be licensed by third parties under separate terms. If FOSS requires maxon entity to provide any free and open source software components used within the Software in source code form, maxon entity will provide it to customer upon written request.

All title, ownership, rights, and intellectual property rights in and to the Software and Documentation, and all copies of the Software and Documentation, shall remain with maxon entity and/or its Affiliates and licensors. All rights not expressly granted in this EULA are reserved to maxon entity and/or its Affiliates and licensors. The Software is protected by Swiss copyright laws and applicable international treaties.

1.3 Customer obligations

Unless otherwise provided in this EULA or permitted by mandatory applicable law, customer

- shall not transfer, loan, lease, publish, or use the Software to or for the benefit of any third party without the prior written consent of maxon entity;
- shall not reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble or otherwise attempt to discover the source code of the Software. Customer's right to reverse engineer or decompile the Software according to statutory law or mandatory legal provisions, in particular if it is required in order to achieve the contractually warranted functionality or interoperability of the Software with other computer programs, remain unaffected thereby. Prior to any such attempt to reverse engineer, decompile, disassemble or otherwise attempt to discover the source code of Software, customer must require in writing that maxon entity provides the necessary information and documents to achieve the contractually warranted functionality or interoperability with other computer programs within a reasonable period of time;
- shall further not otherwise modify, adapt, or merge the Software. Customer will not use the Software for the purpose of developing or enhancing any customer or third-party software or other product that is competitive with the Software or maxon Products and Services. Customer shall use APIs only to the extent as described in the Documentation or API-documentation and only in the scope of authorized use of the Software;

- shall not use the Software in connection with non-Eligible Products, notably any product or service not provided by maxon entity or its Affiliates;
- may assign a third-party provider to provide installation and usage of the Software to customer (e.g. hosting, outsourcing). Software provided by a third-party provider to customer (e.g. via hosting, outsourcing) must remain under exclusive access and control of customer at all times. Customer shall ensure that the third-party provider operates the Software only to the extent permitted in this EULA and for customer's internal business purposes exclusively. Any actual or suspected unauthorized use or disclosure of the Software by customer's third-party provider shall immediately lead to termination of customer's third-party provider's access to the Software. Customer will indemnify and hold maxon entity and its Affiliates harmless from all claims, damages, fines, and costs (including attorney's fees and expenses) arising in connection with customer's third-party provider's unauthorized use of the Software;
- is solely responsible for the security of customer's systems and data, including maxon Products and Services and the associated software used by customer;
- is solely responsible for any incompatibilities that may occur due to any updates, upgrades, patches, fixes or new releases of or to the Software;
- is – subject to section V./A. of this EULA – solely liable for any claim or demand made against customer by any third party in connection with the Software. Customer further is liable for any breach of this EULA by any user of the Software;
- is solely responsible for operating Eligible Products by use of the Software solely within the specifications set forth for each Eligible Product;
- is solely responsible not to ship, transport or export the Software to a country or to use it in any way if this is prohibited by export laws, regulations or ordinances of whatsoever kind.

1.4 Warranties and disclaimers

maxon entity provides the Software "as is" and disclaims all warranties regarding the Software including, without any limitation, warranties regarding the usability of the Software for a specific purpose. maxon entity further does not warrant that the operability of the Software will be uninterrupted or error free. Any communication about the Software by maxon entity or its Affiliates, notably the functionality of the Software, is for informational purposes only and constitutes no warranty.

1.5 Liability and Indemnification

a) Indemnity for intellectual property infringement claims

maxon entity will indemnify and defend, at its expense, any action brought against customer to the extent that it is based on a claim that the Software infringes any intellectual property and will pay all damages finally awarded against customer by a court of competent jurisdiction or agreed in a settlement, provided that Customer gives maxon entity

- prompt written notice of the claim
- all requested information and reasonable assistance related to the claim, and
- sole authority to defend or settle the claim.

maxon entity will not admit liability or incur obligations on customer's behalf without customer's prior written consent, which shall not be unreasonably withheld.

b) Limitation of liability

The entire liability of maxon entity and its Affiliates, for all claims and damages related to this EULA is waived to the fullest extent permitted by law. In no event will maxon entity and its Affiliates be liable for any indirect, incidental, consequential, or punitive damages, loss of production, interruption of operations, or lost data or profits.

1.6 Term and Termination

This EULA terminates as soon as customer no longer has an Eligible Product in operational use. maxon entity further may immediately terminate this EULA upon notice to customer for reasonable cause, including, without limitation

- customer's unauthorized installation or use of the Software (including unauthorized use by customer's third-party provider);
- customer filing or being filed in bankruptcy;
- customer ceasing to do business;
- for any other breach of this EULA by customer that remains uncured after 30 days' notice thereof.

Upon termination of this EULA, the licenses granted hereunder automatically terminate and customer shall immediately remove and destroy all copies of Software and Documentation or require its third-party provider to do so.

1.7 General provisions

Any Affiliate may exercise the rights and fulfil maxon entity's obligations under this EULA.

This EULA and the licenses granted hereunder may not be assigned, sublicensed, or otherwise transferred (by operation of law or otherwise) by customer without the prior written consent of maxon entity.

maxon entity reserves the right to modify or amend this EULA at any time and will duly notify customer of any such modification or amendment. By the continued use of the Software, customer agrees that any such modification or amendment shall be fully binding. Otherwise, the license shall be null and void and customer is no longer entitled to use the Software.

If one or more provisions of this EULA should be or become invalid, void or ineffective, the parties shall negotiate in good faith to agree on valid and/or effective substitute provisions for such invalid/ineffective ones. The substituting provisions shall in their economic effect so closely resemble the invalid provisions that it can be reasonably assumed that the parties would have contracted on the basis of those new provisions. If such provisions cannot be agreed upon, then the invalidity of one or more of the provisions of this EULA shall not affect the validity of this EULA as a whole, unless the invalid provisions are of such essential importance for this EULA that it is to be reasonably assumed that the Parties would not have entered into this EULA without the invalid provisions.

This EULA shall be subject to the laws of Switzerland without reference to any conflict of laws rules. Any dispute arising out of or in connection with this EULA shall be resolved by the competent courts in Zurich, Switzerland.

2 THIRD PARTY LICENSE DECLARATIONS

2.1 PROF-UIS EULA

END-USER LICENSE AGREEMENT FOR PROF-UIS

- 1) This End-User License Agreement ("EULA") is a legal agreement between you (either an individual or a single entity) and FOSS Software, Inc. ("FOSS") and describes your rights and obligations regarding the use of the Prof-UIS software ("SOFTWARE").
- 2) If you do not agree to all of the terms of this agreement, you shall remove all the files related to the SOFTWARE from your storage media and cease any further use of the SOFTWARE. Any violation of these terms will subject you to legal liability.
- 3) The SOFTWARE is the intellectual property of and is owned by FOSS.
- 4) The SOFTWARE is protected by copyright laws and international copyright treaties, as well as other intellectual property laws and treaties. The SOFTWARE is licensed, not sold.
- 5) FOSS grants you the non-exclusive license to use the SOFTWARE on a SINGLE computer at any ONE time for developing any number of end-user applications that work in conjunction with the SOFTWARE. You must purchase a license to the SOFTWARE from FOSS or its authorized reseller in order to use the SOFTWARE.

If you purchased a "multi-user" or "multi-developer" license, the SOFTWARE may be used by the corresponding number of software developers within your entity on the corresponding number of computers (for example, a "six user license" allows up to six software developers to use the SOFTWARE on up to six computers).

If you purchased an "unlimited user", "unlimited developer" or "site" license, the SOFTWARE may be used by any number of software developers within your entity on any number of computers.

- 6) FOSS grants you the non-exclusive license to use the source code ("SOURCE CODE") to the SOFTWARE provided you purchased a license from FOSS or its authorized reseller. You may modify the SOURCE CODE solely at your own risk.

You may not distribute, disclose make available or accessible to any third party any part of the SOURCE CODE or derivative work in source code format.

You may not use the SOURCE CODE as a basis for creating products that provide the same, or substantially the same, functionality as the SOFTWARE.

- 7) FOSS grants you the non-exclusive and royalty-free license to distribute certain files ("REDISTRIBUTABLE FILES") from the SOFTWARE provided (i) you purchased a license to the SOFTWARE from FOSS or its authorized reseller and (ii) such distribution is conducted in conjunction with an application you developed using the SOFTWARE.

The REDISTRIBUTABLE FILES are limited to:

- a) binary files compiled from the "SOURCE CODE"
- b) files with the following extension names: ".xml", ".png" and ".skin"

- 8) You may:
 - a) make one (1) copy of the SOFTWARE for backup purposes
 - b) permanently transfer all of your rights under this EULA to another party or entity provided that you retain no copies of the SOFTWARE and the recipient agrees to be bound by all of the terms and conditions of this EULA
- 9) You may not:
 - a) sell, rent, lease, or sublicense the SOFTWARE
 - b) remove any proprietary notices or labels on the SOFTWARE
- 10) This EULA has no termination date. The FOSS may terminate this license agreement if you fail to comply with the terms and conditions of this EULA. In such an event, you shall remove all the files related to the SOFTWARE from your storage media and cease any further use of the SOFTWARE.
- 11) This SOFTWARE is provided "AS IS" without warranty of any kind including, but not limited to, warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non-infringement. In no event will the FOSS be liable for any direct, indirect, incidental, special, exemplary or consequential damages, including damages for loss of profits, loss or inaccuracy of data, incurred by any person from such person's usage of this SOFTWARE even if advised of the possibility of such damages.

3 OPEN SOURCE SOFTWARE DECLARATIONS

In this chapter licenses relevant for both WinDLL Library and Linux Library are specified.

This software is provided "as is," without warranty of any kind, express or implied. In no event shall Info-ZIP or its contributors be held liable for any direct, indirect, incidental, special or consequential damages arising out of the use of or inability to use this software.

Permission is granted to anyone to use this software for any purpose, including commercial applications, and to alter it and redistribute it freely, subject to the following restrictions:

- 1) Redistributions of source code must retain the above copyright notice, definition, disclaimer, and this list of conditions.

- 2) Redistributions in binary form (compiled executables) must reproduce the above copyright notice, definition, disclaimer, and this list of conditions in documentation and/or other materials provided with the distribution. The sole exception to this condition is redistribution of a standard UnZipSFX binary as part of a self-extracting archive; that is permitted without inclusion of this license, as long as the normal UnZipSFX banner has not been removed from the binary or disabled.
- 3) Altered versions--including, but not limited to, ports to new operating systems, existing ports with new graphical interfaces, and dynamic, shared, or static library versions--must be plainly marked as such and must not be misrepresented as being the original source. Such altered versions also must not be misrepresented as being Info-ZIP releases--including, but not limited to, labeling of the altered versions with the names "Info-ZIP" (or any variation thereof, including, but not limited to, different capitalizations), "Pocket UnZip," "WiZ" or "MacZip" without the explicit permission of Info-ZIP. Such altered versions are further prohibited from misrepresentative use of the Zip-Bugs or Info-ZIP e-mail addresses or of the Info-ZIP URL(s).
- 4) Info-ZIP retains the right to use the names "Info-ZIP," "Zip," "UnZip," "UnZipSFX," "WiZ," "Pocket UnZip," "Pocket Zip," and "MacZip" for its own source and binary releases.

GNU LESSER GENERAL PUBLIC LICENSE

Version 2.1, February 1999

Copyright (C) 1991, 1999 Free Software Foundation, Inc. 51 Franklin Street, Fifth Floor, Boston, MA 02110-1301 USA Everyone is permitted to copy and distribute verbatim copies of this license document, but changing it is not allowed.

[This is the first released version of the Lesser GPL. It also counts as the successor of the GNU Library Public License, version 2, hence the version number 2.1.]

Preamble

The licenses for most software are designed to take away your freedom to share and change it. By contrast, the GNU General Public Licenses are intended to guarantee your freedom to share and change free software--to make sure the software is free for all its users.

This license, the Lesser General Public License, applies to some specially designated software packages--typically libraries--of the Free Software Foundation and other authors who decide to use it. You can use it too, but we suggest you first think carefully about whether this license or the ordinary General Public License is the better strategy to use in any particular case, based on the explanations below.

When we speak of free software, we are referring to freedom of use, not price. Our General Public Licenses are designed to make sure that you have the freedom to distribute copies of free software (and charge for this service if you wish); that you receive source code or can get it if you want it; that you can change the software and use pieces of it in new free programs; and that you are informed that you can do these things.

To protect your rights, we need to make restrictions that forbid distributors to deny you these rights or to ask you to surrender these rights. These restrictions translate to certain responsibilities for you if you distribute copies of the library or if you modify it.

For example, if you distribute copies of the library, whether gratis or for a fee, you must give the recipients all the rights that we gave you. You must make sure that they, too, receive or can get the source code. If you link other code with the library, you must provide complete object files to the recipients, so that they can relink them with the library after making changes to the library and recompiling it. And you must show them these terms so they know their rights.

We protect your rights with a two-step method: (1) we copyright the library, and (2) we offer you this license, which gives you legal permission to copy, distribute and/or modify the library.

To protect each distributor, we want to make it very clear that there is no warranty for the free library. Also, if the library is modified by someone else and passed on, the recipients should know that what they have is not the original version, so that the original author's reputation will not be affected by problems that might be introduced by others.

Finally, software patents pose a constant threat to the existence of any free program. We wish to make sure that a company cannot effectively restrict the users of a free program by obtaining a restrictive license from a patent holder. Therefore, we insist that any patent license obtained for a version of the library must be consistent with the full freedom of use specified in this license.

Most GNU software, including some libraries, is covered by the ordinary GNU General Public License. This license, the GNU Lesser General Public License, applies to certain designated libraries, and is quite different from the ordinary General Public License. We use this license for certain libraries in order to permit linking those libraries into non-free programs.

When a program is linked with a library, whether statically or using a shared library, the combination of the two is legally speaking a combined work, a derivative of the original library. The ordinary General Public License therefore permits such linking only if the entire combination fits its criteria of freedom. The Lesser General Public License permits more lax criteria for linking other code with the library.

We call this license the "Lesser" General Public License because it does Less to protect the user's freedom than the ordinary General Public License. It also provides other free software developers Less of an advantage over competing non-free programs. These disadvantages are the reason we use the ordinary General Public License for many libraries. However, the Lesser license provides advantages in certain special circumstances.

For example, on rare occasions, there may be a special need to encourage the widest possible use of a certain library, so that it becomes a de-facto standard. To achieve this, non-free programs must be allowed to use the library. A more frequent case is that a free library does the same job as widely used non-free libraries. In this case, there is little to gain by limiting the free library to free software only, so we use the Lesser General Public License.

In other cases, permission to use a particular library in non-free programs enables a greater number of people to use a large body of free software. For example, permission to use the GNU C Library in non-free programs enables many more people to use the whole GNU operating system, as well as its variant, the GNU/Linux operating system.

Although the Lesser General Public License is Less protective of the users' freedom, it does ensure that the user of a program that is linked with the Library has the freedom and the wherewithal to run that program using a modified version of the Library.

The precise terms and conditions for copying, distribution and modification follow. Pay close attention to the difference between a "work based on the library" and a "work that uses the library". The former contains code derived from the library, whereas the latter must be combined with the library in order to run.

GNU LESSER GENERAL PUBLIC LICENSE TERMS AND CONDITIONS FOR COPYING, DISTRIBUTION AND MODIFICATION

- 0) This License Agreement applies to any software library or other program which contains a notice placed by the copyright holder or other authorized party saying it may be distributed under the terms of this Lesser General Public License (also called "this License"). Each licensee is addressed as "you".

A "library" means a collection of software functions and/or data prepared so as to be conveniently linked with application programs (which use some of those functions and data) to form executables.

The "Library", below, refers to any such software library or work which has been distributed under these terms. A "work based on the Library" means either the Library or any derivative work under copyright law: that is to say, a work containing the Library or a portion of it, either verbatim or with modifications and/or translated straightforwardly into another language. (Hereinafter, translation is included without limitation in the term "modification".)

"Source code" for a work means the preferred form of the work for making modifications to it. For a library, complete source code means all the source code for all modules it contains, plus any associated interface definition files, plus the scripts used to control compilation and installation of the library.

Activities other than copying, distribution and modification are not covered by this License; they are outside its scope. The act of running a program using the Library is not restricted, and output from such a program is covered only if its contents constitute a work based on the Library (independent of the use of the Library in a tool for writing it). Whether that is true depends on what the Library does and what the program that uses the Library does.

- 1) You may copy and distribute verbatim copies of the Library's complete source code as you receive it, in any medium, provided that you conspicuously and appropriately publish on each copy an appropriate copyright notice and disclaimer of warranty; keep intact all the notices that refer to this License and to the absence of any warranty; and distribute a copy of this License along with the Library.

You may charge a fee for the physical act of transferring a copy, and you may at your option offer warranty protection in exchange for a fee.

- 2) You may modify your copy or copies of the Library or any portion of it, thus forming a work based on the Library, and copy and distribute such modifications or work under the terms of Section 1 above, provided that you also meet all of these conditions:
 - a) The modified work must itself be a software library.
 - b) You must cause the files modified to carry prominent notices stating that you changed the files and the date of any change.
 - c) You must cause the whole of the work to be licensed at no charge to all third parties under the terms of this License.
 - d) If a facility in the modified Library refers to a function or a table of data to be supplied by an application program that uses the facility, other than as an argument passed when the facility is invoked, then you must make a good faith effort to ensure that, in the event an application does not supply such function or table, the facility still operates, and performs whatever part of its purpose remains meaningful.

(For example, a function in a library to compute square roots has a purpose that is entirely well-defined independent of the application. Therefore, Subsection 2d requires that any application-supplied function or table used by this function must be optional: if the application does not supply it, the square root function must still compute square roots.)

These requirements apply to the modified work as a whole. If identifiable sections of that work are not derived from the Library, and can be reasonably considered independent and separate works in themselves, then this License, and its terms, do not apply to those sections when you distribute them as separate works. But when you distribute the same sections as part of a whole which is a work based on the Library, the distribution of the whole must be on the terms of this License, whose permissions for other licensees extend to the entire whole, and thus to each and every part regardless of who wrote it.

Thus, it is not the intent of this section to claim rights or contest your rights to work written entirely by you; rather, the intent is to exercise the right to control the distribution of derivative or collective works based on the Library.

In addition, mere aggregation of another work not based on the Library with the Library (or with a work based on the Library) on a volume of a storage or distribution medium does not bring the other work under the scope of this License.

- 3) You may opt to apply the terms of the ordinary GNU General Public License instead of this License to a given copy of the Library. To do this, you must alter all the notices that refer to this License, so that they refer to the ordinary GNU General Public License, version 2, instead of to this License. (If a newer version than version 2 of the ordinary GNU General Public License has appeared, then you can specify that version instead if you wish.) Do not make any other change in these notices.

Once this change is made in a given copy, it is irreversible for that copy, so the ordinary GNU General Public License applies to all subsequent copies and derivative works made from that copy.

This option is useful when you wish to copy part of the code of the Library into a program that is not a library.

- 4) You may copy and distribute the Library (or a portion or derivative of it, under Section 2) in object code or executable form under the terms of Sections 1 and 2 above provided that you accompany it with the complete corresponding machine-readable source code, which must be distributed under the terms of Sections 1 and 2 above on a medium customarily used for software interchange.

If distribution of object code is made by offering access to copy from a designated place, then offering equivalent access to copy the source code from the same place satisfies the requirement to distribute the source code, even though third parties are not compelled to copy the source along with the object code.

- 5) A program that contains no derivative of any portion of the Library, but is designed to work with the Library by being compiled or linked with it, is called a "work that uses the Library". Such a work, in isolation, is not a derivative work of the Library, and therefore falls outside the scope of this License.

However, linking a "work that uses the Library" with the Library creates an executable that is a derivative of the Library (because it contains portions of the Library), rather than a "work that uses the library". The executable is therefore covered by this License. Section 6 states terms for distribution of such executables.

When a "work that uses the Library" uses material from a header file that is part of the Library, the object code for the work may be a derivative work of the Library even though the source code is not. Whether this is true is especially significant if the work can be linked without the Library, or if the work is itself a library. The threshold for this to be true is not precisely defined by law.

If such an object file uses only numerical parameters, data structure layouts and accessors, and small macros and small inline functions (ten lines or less in length), then the use of the object file is unrestricted, regardless of whether it is legally a derivative work. (Executables containing this object code plus portions of the Library will still fall under Section 6.)

Otherwise, if the work is a derivative of the Library, you may distribute the object code for the work under the terms of Section 6. Any executables containing that work also fall under Section 6, whether or not they are linked directly with the Library itself.

- 6) As an exception to the Sections above, you may also combine or link a "work that uses the Library" with the Library to produce a work containing portions of the Library, and distribute that work under terms of your choice, provided that the terms permit modification of the work for the customer's own use and reverse engineering for debugging such modifications.

You must give prominent notice with each copy of the work that the Library is used in it and that the Library and its use are covered by this License. You must supply a copy of this License. If the work during execution displays copyright notices, you must include the copyright notice for the Library among them, as well as a reference directing the user to the copy of this License. Also, you must do one of these things:

- a) Accompany the work with the complete corresponding machine-readable source code for the Library including whatever changes were used in the work (which must be distributed under Sections 1 and 2 above); and, if the work is an executable linked with the Library, with the complete machine-readable "work that uses the Library", as object code and/or source code, so that the user can modify the Library and then relink to produce a modified executable containing the modified Library. (It is understood that the user who changes the contents of definitions files in the Library will not necessarily be able to recompile the application to use the modified definitions.)
- b) Use a suitable shared library mechanism for linking with the Library. A suitable mechanism is one that (1) uses at run time a copy of the library already present on the user's computer system, rather than copying library functions into the executable, and (2) will operate properly with a modified version of the library, if the user installs one, as long as the modified version is interface-compatible with the version that the work was made with.
- c) Accompany the work with a written offer, valid for at least three years, to give the same user the materials specified in Subsection 6a, above, for a charge no more than the cost of performing this distribution.
- d) If distribution of the work is made by offering access to copy from a designated place, offer equivalent access to copy the above specified materials from the same place.
- e) Verify that the user has already received a copy of these materials or that you have already sent this user a copy.

For an executable, the required form of the "work that uses the Library" must include any data and utility programs needed for reproducing the executable from it. However, as a special exception, the materials to be distributed need not include anything that is normally distributed (in either source or binary form) with the major components (compiler, kernel, and so on) of the operating system on which the executable runs, unless that component itself accompanies the executable.

It may happen that this requirement contradicts the license restrictions of other proprietary libraries that do not normally accompany the operating system. Such a contradiction means you cannot use both them and the Library together in an executable that you distribute.

- 7) You may place library facilities that are a work based on the Library side-by-side in a single library together with other library facilities not covered by this License, and distribute such a combined library, provided that the separate distribution of the work based on the Library and of the other library facilities is otherwise permitted, and provided that you do these two things:

- a) Accompany the combined library with a copy of the same work based on the Library, uncombined with any other library facilities. This must be distributed under the terms of the Sections above.
 - b) Give prominent notice with the combined library of the fact that part of it is a work based on the Library, and explaining where to find the accompanying uncombined form of the same work.
- 8) You may not copy, modify, sublicense, link with, or distribute the Library except as expressly provided under this License. Any attempt otherwise to copy, modify, sublicense, link with, or distribute the Library is void, and will automatically terminate your rights under this License. However, parties who have received copies, or rights, from you under this License will not have their licenses terminated so long as such parties remain in full compliance.
 - 9) You are not required to accept this License, since you have not signed it. However, nothing else grants you permission to modify or distribute the Library or its derivative works. These actions are prohibited by law if you do not accept this License. Therefore, by modifying or distributing the Library (or any work based on the Library), you indicate your acceptance of this License to do so, and all its terms and conditions for copying, distributing or modifying the Library or works based on it.
 - 10) Each time you redistribute the Library (or any work based on the Library), the recipient automatically receives a license from the original licensor to copy, distribute, link with or modify the Library subject to these terms and conditions. You may not impose any further restrictions on the recipients' exercise of the rights granted herein. You are not responsible for enforcing compliance by third parties with this License.
 - 11) If, as a consequence of a court judgment or allegation of patent infringement or for any other reason (not limited to patent issues), conditions are imposed on you (whether by court order, agreement or otherwise) that contradict the conditions of this License, they do not excuse you from the conditions of this License. If you cannot distribute so as to satisfy simultaneously your obligations under this License and any other pertinent obligations, then as a consequence you may not distribute the Library at all. For example, if a patent license would not permit royalty-free redistribution of the Library by all those who receive copies directly or indirectly through you, then the only way you could satisfy both it and this License would be to refrain entirely from distribution of the Library.

If any portion of this section is held invalid or unenforceable under any particular circumstance, the balance of the section is intended to apply, and the section as a whole is intended to apply in other circumstances.

It is not the purpose of this section to induce you to infringe any patents or other property right claims or to contest validity of any such claims; this section has the sole purpose of protecting the integrity of the free software distribution system which is implemented by public license practices. Many people have made generous contributions to the wide range of software distributed through that system in reliance on consistent application of that system; it is up to the author/donor to decide if he or she is willing to distribute software through any other system and a licensee cannot impose that choice.

This section is intended to make thoroughly clear what is believed to be a consequence of the rest of this License.

- 12) If the distribution and/or use of the Library is restricted in certain countries either by patents or by copyrighted interfaces, the original copyright holder who places the Library under this License may add an explicit geographical distribution limitation excluding those countries, so that distribution is permitted only in or among countries not thus excluded. In such case, this License incorporates the limitation as if written in the body of this License.
- 13) The Free Software Foundation may publish revised and/or new versions of the Lesser General Public License from time to time. Such new versions will be similar in spirit to the present version, but may differ in detail to address new problems or concerns. Each version is given a distinguishing version number. If the Library specifies a version number of this License which applies to it and "any later version", you have the option of following the terms and conditions either of that version or of any later version published by the Free Software Foundation. If the Library does not specify a license version number, you may choose any version ever published by the Free Software Foundation.
- 14) If you wish to incorporate parts of the Library into other free programs whose distribution conditions are incompatible with these, write to the author to ask for permission. For software which is copyrighted by the Free Software Foundation, write to the Free Software Foundation; we sometimes make exceptions for this.

Our decision will be guided by the two goals of preserving the free status of all derivatives of our free software and of promoting the sharing and reuse of software generally.

NO WARRANTY

- 15) BECAUSE THE LIBRARY IS LICENSED FREE OF CHARGE, THERE IS NO WARRANTY FOR THE LIBRARY, TO THE EXTENT PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW. EXCEPT WHEN OTHERWISE STATED IN WRITING THE COPYRIGHT HOLDERS AND/OR OTHER PARTIES PROVIDE THE LIBRARY "AS IS" WITHOUT WARRANTY OF ANY KIND, EITHER EXPRESSED OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO, THE IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY AND FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. THE ENTIRE RISK AS TO THE QUALITY AND PERFORMANCE OF THE LIBRARY IS WITH YOU. SHOULD THE LIBRARY PROVE DEFECTIVE, YOU ASSUME THE COST OF ALL NECESSARY SERVICING, REPAIR OR CORRECTION.
- 16) IN NO EVENT UNLESS REQUIRED BY APPLICABLE LAW OR AGREED TO IN WRITING WILL ANY COPYRIGHT HOLDER, OR ANY OTHER PARTY WHO MAY MODIFY AND/OR REDISTRIBUTE THE LIBRARY AS PERMITTED ABOVE, BE LIABLE TO YOU FOR DAMAGES, INCLUDING ANY GENERAL, SPECIAL, INCIDENTAL OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES ARISING OUT OF THE USE OR INABILITY TO USE THE LIBRARY (INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO LOSS OF DATA OR DATA BEING RENDERED INACCURATE OR LOSSES SUSTAINED BY YOU OR THIRD PARTIES OR A FAILURE OF THE LIBRARY TO OPERATE WITH ANY OTHER SOFTWARE), EVEN IF SUCH HOLDER OR OTHER PARTY HAS BEEN ADVISED OF THE POSSIBILITY OF SUCH DAMAGES.

END OF TERMS AND CONDITIONS

How to Apply These Terms to Your New Libraries

If you develop a new library, and you want it to be of the greatest possible use to the public, we recommend making it free software that everyone can redistribute and change. You can do so by permitting redistribution under these terms (or, alternatively, under the terms of the ordinary General Public License).

To apply these terms, attach the following notices to the library. It is safest to attach them to the start of each source file to most effectively convey the exclusion of warranty; and each file should have at least the "copyright" line and a pointer to where the full notice is found.

<one line to give the library's name and a brief idea of what it does.>

Copyright (C) <year> <name of author>

This library is free software; you can redistribute it and/or modify it under the terms of the GNU Lesser General Public License as published by the Free Software Foundation; either version 2.1 of the License, or (at your option) any later version.

This library is distributed in the hope that it will be useful, but WITHOUT ANY WARRANTY; without even the implied warranty of MERCHANTABILITY or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. See the GNU Lesser General Public License for more details.

You should have received a copy of the GNU Lesser General Public License along with this library; if not, write to the Free Software Foundation, Inc., 51 Franklin Street, Fifth Floor, Boston, MA 02110-1301 USA

Also add information on how to contact you by electronic and paper mail.

You should also get your employer (if you work as a programmer) or your school, if any, to sign a "copyright disclaimer" for the library, if necessary. Here is a sample; alter the names:

Yoyodyne, Inc., hereby disclaims all copyright interest in the library 'Frob' (a library for tweaking knobs) written by James Random Hacker.
